I. Introduction

Human trafficking is a complex, insidious crime that infiltrates communities across South Carolina. Traffickers continue to target the vulnerable as well as those in mainstream society. It presents a public health and public safety issue that violates basic human rights. While traffickers continue to seek opportunities to exploit victims for profit, the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force works to prevent the crime, protect our communities, and prosecute those committing these crimes.

Legislatively mandated in 2012, the State Task Force utilizes a strategic, multi-disciplinary approach to combatting human trafficking. The collaborative approach includes efforts from mandated and non-mandated state agencies, state and federal law enforcement, nonprofits, faith leaders, community volunteers, and professionals in the fields of education and medicine. We strive to always include survivors' voices in the process to help provide insight into the development of trauma-informed, victim-centered protocols and support services.

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force also includes state associations in its multi-sector approach. Last year we formally initiated our partnerships with the South Carolina Trucking Association and the South Carolina Hospital Association. This year, we have developed similar partnerships with the South Carolina Restaurant and Lodging Association and the South Carolina Beer Wholesalers Association. These associations will contribute by bringing increased awareness, positioning thousands to help identify and report the crime and assisting in ensuring more effective response protocols within their industries.

In 2019, the State Task Force continued to make progress in preventing, protecting, and prosecuting human trafficking. Thousands of citizens in our state learned about human trafficking through informative presentations, including professionals in the fields of law enforcement, medicine, education, elder services, child welfare, and direct services. Members of the Task Force contributed their knowledge in developing quality service standards while others completed the Victim Service Provider certification for human trafficking professionals, the first of its kind in the nation. Law enforcement and prosecutors, determined to bring justice through our legal process, continued to target offenders of this often-gruesome crime.

While there were many successes in 2019, we still have much to accomplish in the coming year. There will be efforts to formally certify providers to ensure victims and survivors are protected from revictimization. Efforts will increase to ensure youth and young adults do not fall prey to those seeking to exploit them for profit. Statewide strategies will be implemented to more effectively respond to victim needs as well as ensure incidents are promptly reported to law enforcement via the National Human Trafficking Hotline. Systems will be developed to successfully engage those in the faith community who wish to support and contribute to the anti-human trafficking movement. There will also be efforts to increase the state's focus on labor trafficking.

The Office of the South Carolina Attorney General is appreciative of all the efforts made in 2019 by State Task Force members, regional task forces, volunteers, and partners within a myriad of industries. In 2020, we look forward to continuing to lead and coordinate efforts in our state.

II. Structure of the Task Force

The 2012 human trafficking law, S.C. Code Ann. 16-3-2050(B)(1), states that the Attorney General will chair a task force to address the crime of human trafficking in South Carolina. Task Force efforts are in collaboration with federal, state, and local agencies. A major endeavor noted in the law was the development of a State Plan to Address Human Trafficking. The Task Force disseminated the State Plan to Address Human Trafficking in June of 2014. The law dictates that the Task Force shall coordinate the implementation of the State Plan. Furthermore, the Task Force will submit annual reports, inclusive of findings and recommendations, to the Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the President of the Senate. The Task Force shall also consider completing the following collectively or via one or more of its constituent agencies:

- Collect and share trafficking data among government agencies while respecting the privacy of victims of trafficking in persons;
- Coordinate inter-agency information sharing for the purposes of identifying criminals engaged in trafficking in persons;
- Establish policies to position state government to work with nongovernmental organizations and other elements of civil society to prevent trafficking and provide assistance to United States citizens and foreign national victims;
- Review the existing services and facilities to meet trafficking victims' needs and recommend a system to coordinate services;
- Evaluate the various approaches used by state and local governments to increase public awareness of trafficking in persons;
- Collect and publish data on trafficking, posting the information on the Attorney General's website;
- Design and implement public awareness campaigns to inform potential targets of the risks of victimization;
- Creation and dissemination of materials to increase the public's awareness of the extent of trafficking in persons, both US citizens and foreign nationals, within the United States.

IV. 2014 South Carolina State Plan to Address Human Trafficking

Released in June of 2014, the South Carolina State Plan to Address Human Trafficking is the framework from which the State Task Force establishes its goals. It should be noted that while the State Plan reflects the most relevant issues during the time in which the document was drafted, some findings may currently be less germane than others in relation to ongoing efforts. The focus areas that comprise the framework include the following:

Determining the Magnitude of Human Trafficking in South Carolina

- Finding: There is not abundant or comprehensive data about human trafficking as it is happening in South Carolina.

Protecting, Supporting, and Serving Victims of Human Trafficking

- Finding One: First responders, medical professionals, labor agencies, and victim advocacy groups must be able to recognize the signs of human trafficking.
- Finding Two: There is a lack of sufficient funding for, access to, and availability of resources for groups that provide services to victims of human trafficking.
- Finding Three: South Carolina does not have adequate shelter space to meet the needs of human trafficking victims.
- Finding Four: There is a lack of understanding and awareness of the various immigration benefits for non-citizen victims of human trafficking that are essential to victim safety and prosecution.
- Finding Five: Civil relief options for a trafficked victim are not well known or communicated.
- Finding Six: Delivery of and access to victim services need to be better coordinated.

Investigating and Prosecuting Human Traffickers

- Finding One: The lack of resources available to law enforcement, prosecutors, and judges frustrate opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.
- Finding Two: The lack of information sharing among law enforcement officers and prosecuting offices hinders opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.
- Finding Three: The lack of trained law enforcement officers, prosecutors, and judges prevents opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.

Preventing Human Trafficking in South Carolina

- Finding One: There is inadequate enforcement of existing rules and regulations in South Carolina.
- Finding Two: Lack of awareness about human trafficking and ingrained societal perceptions aggravate the problem, resulting in lost opportunities to help victims and hold perpetrators accountable.

Other Areas for Consideration and Study

- Foreign national victims: Consider how current immigration laws can affect victims of severe human trafficking.
- Rapid Response Teams: Consider creating teams throughout the state via new partnerships, the development of regional multiagency groups, and concise points of contact to be used by response teams.
- Child Victims: Analyze how South Carolina juvenile law affects juvenile victims of human trafficking, particularly those victims who might be arrested for a crime.
- Internet and Technology: Develop strategies to more efficiently investigate tips received from online sites, draft protocol for handling tips including possible areas of overlap between human trafficking and internet crimes against children. Also examine different methods, specifically those related to technology and the Internet, used in the perpetration of human trafficking crimes in order to formulate better responses, develop prevention strategies, and build stronger cases for prosecution

V. 2019 Task Force Recommendations & Updates

Determining the Magnitude of Human Trafficking in South Carolina

- Finding: There is not abundant or comprehensive data about human trafficking as it is happening in South Carolina.

Recommendation

In 2019, the Data Management and Research Subcommittee will continue efforts to launch the first human trafficking data collection system in South Carolina. The data collection system will align with the DHHS Office on Trafficking in Persons data project and be interoperable to best position State Task Force members to both contribute toward and receive statistics that will help shape law enforcement training opportunities and the development of support services in our state.

Update

Members of the Data Management and Research Subcommittee continued efforts in 2019 to position the state to better collect data critical to assessing the scope of the problem in South Carolina and appropriately responding to the needs of victims and survivors. Given competing data projects, the data collection system was not finalized. However, there were strides made in formalizing an interoperable system that will be beneficial in both collecting data and disbursing it to federal, state, and local stakeholders.

Protecting, Supporting, and Serving Victims of Human Trafficking

- Finding One: First responders, medical professionals, labor agencies, and victim advocacy groups must be able to recognize the signs of human trafficking.

Recommendation

The State Task Force will continue efforts to provide comprehensive training to first responders, medical professionals, labor agencies, and victim advocacy through alliances with local, state, and national partners. It is critical that ongoing education best position those in the community to recognize the signs of human trafficking so that victims' needs may be addressed and traffickers are successfully prosecuted in South Carolina.

Update

Training is a critical component in continually strengthening the fight against human trafficking in South Carolina. In 2019, the Attorney General's Office, State Task Force members, regional task forces, and others contributed to the ongoing need to better inform those employed in the medical field, labor agencies, and victim services. By engaging these professionals on the topic of human trafficking, the state is increasingly better positioned to identify and effectively respond to incidents.

- Finding Two: There is a lack of sufficient funding for, access to, and availability of resources for groups that provide services to victims of human trafficking.

Recommendation

Throughout 2019, the State Task Force will actively seek opportunities for members to receive much needed funding to support their efforts to develop added services.

Update

The Task Force recognizes the ongoing demand for funding to support the needs of victims and survivors in communities across South Carolina. While members of the state and regional task forces continue to educate professionals in law enforcement, healthcare, hospitality, and education, a surge in the number of incidents reported will undoubtedly result in a corresponding escalation in the need for critical emergency and ongoing support services. This is an area that will continue to require attention to ensure successful identification of funding sources at the local, state, and federal levels.

- Finding Three: South Carolina does not have adequate shelter space to meet the needs of human trafficking victims.

Recommendation

The State Task Force will continue to support efforts for continued development of shelter spaces that meet the unique needs of human trafficking victims and survivors. Furthermore, the Task Force will work diligently to ensure that these programs provide victim-centered, trauma-informed services that align with best and emerging practices in the field.

Update

Shelter space for victims and survivors, including both short and long-term options, continues to be lacking in South Carolina as well as across the country. While there is an ever-present demand for restorative care for minor and adult sex trafficking victims, there is an emerging need for increased services to support labor trafficking victims as well. This will continue to be a priority area as the Task Force implements its state-level certification for direct service providers to ensure safe, adequate programming for this population.

- Finding Four: There is a lack of understanding and awareness of the various immigration benefits for non-citizen victims of human trafficking that are essential to victim safety and prosecution.

Recommendation

There is an ongoing need to continue to educate direct service providers regarding immigration benefits for non-citizen victims of human trafficking. In 2019, the State Task Force will develop a brochure that details information to best position providers to support this population. The brochure will be posted on the Task Force website so that partners may reference and/or download the resource as needed.

Update

Resources continue to be sparse in relation to the unique needs of non-citizen victims of human trafficking. While the Task Force did not develop a brochure to share the limited resources available, there were efforts to strengthen the network of providers equipped to support this population and also efforts to develop resources in Spanish, a language deemed a priority in terms of reaching victims within our state. The leadership of the Task Force also built a relationship with a national agency to help connect victims with critical services and potentially bring increased funding in support of non-citizens residing in South Carolina.

- Finding Five: Civil relief options for a trafficked victim are not well known or communicated.

Recommendation

The Legal Innovations Subcommittee will continue its partnerships with stakeholders invested in this matter. Efforts will be made to include more relevant information in trainings and through other effective avenues.

Update

Efforts continued throughout 2019 to bring attention to civil relief options. Those conducting legal trainings included information about this topic to ensure awareness amongst stakeholders.

- Finding Six: Delivery of and access to victim services need to be better coordinated.

Recommendation

After much work in 2018, this is an area that will continue to be further developed in 2019. More MOU's will be drafted and specialized programs vetted to ensure the Task Force endorses support services that are grounded in safe, quality practices. The Task Force will develop a list of service providers that meet specific criteria and post on the website for reference by stakeholders in South Carolina, the Southeast, and across the nation. This information will also be shared directly with law enforcement and members of the bar.

Update

Per 2018 legislation, the State Task Force worked throughout the year to develop a comprehensive system to vet and certify direct service providers. This included strategizing with point people at the National Human Trafficking Hotline. Efforts were also made to implement a more organized response at the state-level to better position stakeholders in meeting the needs of victims.

Investigating and Prosecuting Human Traffickers

- Finding One: The lack of resources available to law enforcement, prosecutors, and judges frustrate opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.
- Finding Two: The lack of information sharing among law enforcement officers and prosecuting offices hinders opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.
- Finding Three: The lack of trained law enforcement officers, prosecutors, and judges prevents opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.

Recommendation (Finding One, Two and Three)

Resources will continue to be identified and disseminated to better support the efforts of law enforcement, prosecutors, and judges. Additionally, a law enforcement network will be formalized to position local, state, and federal partners to share information, best respond to case tips, and seek support on investigations as needed. This network will, in part, be developed during training opportunities highlighting human trafficking investigation approaches and techniques.

Update

In 2019, the Task Force developed a Strategic Response Model that positions law enforcement to utilize a network composed of federal, state, and local points of contact. This model was in part developed by using feedback from professionals in the field, identifying the unique needs of different communities throughout the state, and encouraging increased participation in regional and state efforts. Training opportunities were provided, but there is a need for increased investigative trainings that align with the newly developed response model to ensure continued coordination.

Preventing Human Trafficking in South Carolina

- Finding One: There is inadequate enforcement of existing rules and regulations in South Carolina.

Recommendation

In 2019, efforts will continue to better educate law enforcement and prosecutors about the specifics of human trafficking legislation in South Carolina. Partners across the state will be better positioned to enforce rules and regulations if ongoing efforts continue in this area.

Update

Through presentations and unique trainings, the Task Force made efforts throughout 2019 to better educate law enforcement and prosecutors regarding rules and regulations in our state. This was especially important in light of 2018 legislation that redefined the Department of Social Services definition of abuse and neglect and increased the penalties for those found guilty of trafficking in minor victims. There was also continued emphasis and clarification regarding what elements of the crime constitute a minor victim of sex trafficking as well as those that signify an adult victim of sex and/or labor trafficking.

- Finding Two: Lack of awareness about human trafficking and ingrained societal perceptions aggravate the problem, resulting in lost opportunities to help victims and hold perpetrators accountable.

Recommendation

The State Task Force will continue public awareness initiatives throughout the state. A trained cohort of speakers will help ensure that ingrained societal perceptions are challenged and the public remains better informed on the complexities of human trafficking.

Update

In 2019, the State Task Force challenged societal perceptions of human trafficking by working with its members to try to ensure accurate, non-sensationalized information was appropriately distributed and presented to those in the community. This included encouraging stakeholders to define the crime using legal definitions and parameters, limiting images that reinforce existing societal perceptions resulting from inaccurate media portrayals, and responsibly involving survivors who wished to share their stories with the public. Members were also encouraged to incorporate information pertaining to labor trafficking within existing presentations.

Other Areas for Consideration and Study

- Foreign national victims: Consider how current immigration laws can affect victims of severe human trafficking.
- Rapid Response Teams: Consider creating teams throughout the state via new partnerships, the development of regional multiagency groups, and concise points of contact to be used by response teams.
- Child Victims: Analyze how South Carolina juvenile law affects juvenile victims of human trafficking, particularly those victims who might be arrested for a crime.
- Internet and Technology: Develop strategies to more efficiently investigate tips received from online sites, draft protocol for handling tips including possible areas of overlap between human trafficking and internet crimes against children. Also examine different methods, specifically those related to technology and the Internet, used in the perpetration of human trafficking crimes in order to formulate better responses, develop prevention strategies, and build stronger cases for prosecution

Recommendations

In 2019, the State Task Force will continue its efforts to support providers working with foreign national victims, pilot a rapid response team, and highlight the need for Internet-related education and the use of technology in investigating human trafficking cases. We will also continue efforts to protect minor victims, ensure they receive quality services that meet their unique needs, and encourage prosecution of criminals who victimize children through sex and/or labor trafficking.

Update

Through the efforts of the Task Force, resources were identified to better respond to the needs of foreign national victims throughout South Carolina. This was in part due to a new partnership between the State Task Force and the US Committee for Refugees and Immigrants as well as the early stages of the new Strategic Response Model. This model will continue to better position stakeholders identified as critical in further developing rapid response teams. Additionally, the Attorney General's Office developed new posters to help bring awareness to the dangers of social media in relation to those who wish to exploit both children and adults. Efforts continued in encouraging the use of technology in human trafficking investigations by maintaining the partnership with Thorn, whose Spotlight technology continues to be updated to better support law enforcement in their investigations. In turn, stronger investigations will better position prosecutors working these cases in our courts.

VI. State Task Force Response

Since early 2017, the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force has been strategizing as to how best to respond to the crime in our state while meeting the expectations established in the State Plan to Address Human Trafficking. Below, some of the observations and theories that were considered in developing a thoughtful, well established response are outlined to provide added perspective. These steps have influenced how the Task Force has expanded and how it is planning to more strategically respond to the needs of victims and survivors while ultimately preventing the crime from happening to both adults and children in our state.

Human Trafficking Response - System of Care

In early 2017, leadership of the State Task Force assessed where South Carolina sat in terms of systemic resources needed to effectively respond to the needs of victims and survivors. In an attempt to define the needs of a statewide response, the above System of Care model was developed. It has in part informed the expansion of subcommittees that directly intersect with victims and survivors within the identified components of the model.

Ecological Systems Model

The State Task Force also reflected on American psychologist Urie Brofenbrenner’s Ecological Systems Theory in terms of considering how an individual’s qualities and interactions with their environments can help prioritize initiatives and sector-specific approaches. This model was factored in to consider the various dynamics that influence people throughout their lifespans and what those mean in terms of preventing human trafficking from impacting the citizens of South Carolina. From the individual characteristics such as sex and age through each level of the systems theory, we identified key areas of influence that the State Task Force could target in its efforts.

Universal Human Needs

Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs was also considered in developing the approach the state would take to combat human trafficking. What is considered simple psychology by some is, in fact, very central to the approach that traffickers employ when victimizing their prey. This theory outlines the areas considered deficiency needs. Traffickers seek those who present with deficiencies, such as a runaway in need of shelter and food, to exploit while providing what they seek. Often times, the need is met in the early stage of manipulation and bonding. Once the vulnerable individual is attached, they are subsequently victimized. This results in an individual often not recognizing the exploitation as such. It is critical that the State Task Force continue to collaborate with direct service providers across the state to try to meet the deficiencies that individuals are facing and, in turn, limit the opportunities for human traffickers to victimize the vulnerable in our society.

VI. Court Data: Pending and Closed

In 2019, 14 new defendants were charged with Human Trafficking in South Carolina State Courts. Of the new cases, five were closed in 2019. One defendant pleaded guilty to a charge of trafficking as a first offense. Overall, 17 charges of human trafficking were closed in state courts in 2019. Local law enforcement worked with both state and federal law enforcement agencies in investigating cases. As of December 15, 2019, there are 68 human trafficking cases pending in the South Carolina State Courts.

Pending Cases In SC Courts

VII. Highlighted Partnerships & Initiatives

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force honors collaboration in its approach to combatting the crime and providing specialized services to victims and survivors. The goal of these partnerships is to ultimately aid in battling human trafficking throughout South Carolina, the Southeast region, and our nation. In turn, such efforts will assist in building the capacity of law enforcement and other professional service providers to meet the specific needs of victims and survivors.

To effectively communicate and collaborate with partners across the nation, Attorney General Alan Wilson and Director Kathryn Moorehead, Coordinator of the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force, actively contribute to regional and national workgroups. While the following groups are focused on solving the complex challenges that factor into abolishing human trafficking, they vary in their approaches within the anti-human trafficking arena. In 2020, the Office of the Attorney General will continue its commitment to collaboration via participation in regional and national coalitions as well as establishing new partnerships with those critical to efforts within South Carolina.

The Association provides a forum for the exchange of knowledge, experiences, and insights on subjects of importance to the Attorneys General of the states, territories, and district. It fosters local, state, and federal engagement, cooperation, and communication on legal and law enforcement issues. It provides training, research, and analysis to members and their staff on a wide range of subjects relevant to the practice areas of the Attorneys General offices.

Attorneys General across the nation recognize that human trafficking is a scourge upon our communities. To proactively and collaboratively combat this crime, the Attorneys General have established the NAAG Human Trafficking Committee. The committee's goals are to investigate and promote best practices for combating human trafficking at the state level. Focus areas include law enforcement and prosecution strategies, educational outreach efforts, and alliances with partner agencies and non-governmental organizations.

As a longtime proponent of anti-human trafficking efforts and an active member of NAAG, South Carolina Attorney General Alan Wilson continued to be a sitting member of the Human Trafficking Committee in 2019. The committee has compiled resources to help states abolish this crime and posted them on the national website (www.naag.org). Along with Attorney General Wilson, the following Attorneys General have committed their offices to the cause of counter human trafficking by participating in the 2019 NAAG Human Trafficking Committee.

Region IV - Southeast Leadership Advisory Group

The US Department of Health & Human Services (DHHS) Administration for Children and Families (ACF) Region IV office in Atlanta coordinates the Southeast Leadership Advisory Group representing eight states. Representatives from each of the participating states, namely state task force leads and other state agency representatives, meet four times a year. With two meetings hosted by member states and two meetings via conference call, the group regularly discusses pressing issues in the anti-human trafficking field. The eight states who participate in this coalition include: South Carolina, North Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

In 2019, members of the Leadership Advisory Group first met during an event hosted by DHHS/ACF in Atlanta. The event was entitled “Engaging Community & Health Partners to Address Intimate Partner Violence & Human Trafficking” and began with a discussion on the state of the human trafficking field. Kathryn Moorehead, Director of VAWA and Human Trafficking at the Office of the South Carolina Attorney General, was a panelist discussing community conversations and developing sustainable partnerships. Jennifer Combs, with Spartanburg Regional Medical System and Chair of the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force Healthcare Providers Subcommittee, also contributed to the discussion. Patricia Ravenhorst, General Counsel at the South Carolina Coalition Against Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault, presented on a panel focused on intimate partner violence. Other panels included a discussion of relevant human trafficking topics and another on the intersection of intimate partner violence and human trafficking.

In July 2019, the Leadership Advisory Group met in Birmingham, Alabama for its second meeting. There were 32 representatives present from the eight states, Polaris/the National Human Trafficking Hotline, the DHHS Office on Trafficking in Persons, and the ACF Region IV Office out of Atlanta. Discussions included data from the State Department’s Trafficking in Persons Report that indicated a drop in federal law enforcement investigations and prosecutions as well as a decline in the issuance of T-Visa and Continued Presence for foreign nationals. At the federal level, there was also discussion of several laws passed by Congress in relation to human trafficking, one with a focus on prevention of the crime. Other discussion points included state capacity building, labor trafficking conferences and other resources, training materials, state mandates focused on professional trainings, prevention education in schools, existing databases, and resources available through the US Committee on Refugees and Immigrants. The group also discussed potentially coordinating efforts as a region with the Safe Shelter Collaborative and the significance of participating in the National Compendium to encourage information sharing and coordination of efforts across state boundaries.

Throughout 2019, the Region IV Leadership Advisory Group’s Guide on Best Practices, released in 2018, was also significant in terms of its use in efforts at the state-level in South Carolina. It has been an important tool in terms of impacting conversations around safe, quality care for victims and survivors of human trafficking. The State Task Force has made the resource available on its website and integrated the information into a section of the South Carolina Victim Service Provider certification for human trafficking professionals, the first of its kind in the nation. The guide continues to help influence those providing direct services as they seek to improve or further develop services for victims and survivors. The resource can be found on the State Task Force website at humantrafficking.scag.gov.

The lead representative from South Carolina in 2019 continued to be Kathryn Moorehead of the Office of the South Carolina Attorney General, Director of VAWA and Human Trafficking Programs/Coordinator of the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force. In 2020, representation will also include delegates from the South Carolina Department of Juvenile Justice and the Department of Social Services. Dependent upon items on the agenda for discussion, South Carolina will also include involvement from its other State Task Force subcommittee leaders. 2020 meetings of the Southeast Leadership Advisory Group are planned for Georgia and Mississippi.

National Compendium of State-Run Anti-Human Trafficking Initiatives

A growing number of statewide initiatives have been created across the country that are generally housed within a state government agency. The National Compendium of State-Run Anti-Human Trafficking Initiatives is a group of professionals, primarily operating at the state level, who work on human trafficking issues and inform statelevel policy decisions on how to address the crime. The National Compendium is designed as an opportunity for leaders to share ideas with one another to boost anti-human trafficking efforts both nationally and within their own states. It is led by the Colorado Human Trafficking Council under the Colorado Department of Public Safety, Division of Criminal Justice, Office for Victims Programs.

The National Compendium meets throughout the year via e-meetings to discuss goals, challenges, resources, and other relevant topics that relate to the collective efforts of the states. The meetings occurred on March 26th, June 20th, and November 6th. Topics of discussion included the following: proposed human trafficking-related legislation in member states, the Family First Prevention Services Act specifically in relation to “at-risk of becoming a sex trafficking victim,” and the opioid crisis within the context of human trafficking. The e-meetings topics are chosen by compendium members to foster learning and provide an exchange of ideas between states.

Currently, the National Compendium is composed of 31 states and two national agencies. South Carolina remains an active member. In December of 2019, Kathryn Moorehead, Coordinator of the State Task Force, joined six other state leaders on the first Steering Committee of the National Compendium. The other states represented in the Steering Committee include North Carolina, Colorado, Florida, Ohio, Wisconsin, and Nevada.

The National Human Trafficking Hotline and BeFree Textline (hereto referred to as “the hotline”) is the nationwide anti-human trafficking hotline and resource center serving victims and survivors of human trafficking and the anti-trafficking community in the United States. Since 2007, it has been run by Polaris, a nonprofit, non-governmental organization.

The hotline provides human trafficking victims and survivors with access to critical support and services to get help and stay safe. They also equip the anti-trafficking community with tools to effectively combat human trafficking. The hotline offers round-the-clock access to a safe space to report tips, seek services, and ask for help. Through the hotline, Polaris also provides innovative anti-trafficking trainings, technical assistance, and capacity building support

Formal Partnership

In May 2017, the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force, under the leadership of the Office of the Attorney General, formalized its partnership with Polaris to strengthen statewide capacity to respond to and support victims/survivors. By entering into a Memorandum of Understanding, both parties officially recognized the importance of collaboration to identify and serve victims, promote greater public awareness, and increase the skills and capacity of law enforcement and professional service providers in understanding and responding to human trafficking in South Carolina.

The Office of the South Carolina Attorney General, under the leadership of the State Task Force Coordinator, continued to work in partnership with the organization throughout 2019. Specifically, collaboration was primarily in relation to the state’s connection to the National Human Trafficking Hotline. Our partnership continues to effectively position stakeholders in South Carolina to better respond to potential incidents of human trafficking and provide victims and survivors access to much needed services. Efforts include continuing to ensure law enforcement receives time sensitive tips for investigation and direct service providers are better accessed to help guarantee that victims are connected with safe, quality services.

Polaris Illicit Massage Industry Convening

In October 2019, the Attorney General’s leadership of the State Task Force, as well as law enforcement and regional task force members, traveled to Washington, D.C. to attend the first-ever national convening specifically focused on human trafficking in illicit massage businesses (IMBs). Hosted by Polaris, the convening was designed to organize a national community of peers and colleagues united around the common goal of eliminating this form of human trafficking. Throughout the two-day event, multi-disciplinary discussions were held around best practices for prosecuting cases, how to engage code enforcement, property owners, and financial institutions in combatting IMBs, and best practices for serving survivors of IMB trafficking. The Coordinator of the State Task Force attended sessions on developing and implementing a multi-sector response to tackling IMBs while the Program Assistant of the State Task Force attended discussions on the collection and use of data to quantify the magnitude of the problem. Other joined law enforcement from across the country to discuss topics germane to their specialties. With the information and connections made at the convening, the State Task Force hopes to continue its work on building capacity with key stakeholders throughout South Carolina to effectively dismantle IMBs and provide quality care for survivors of this type of trafficking.

In 2015, the South Carolina Office of the Attorney General, as Chair of the State Task Force, established a partnership with the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to collaborate on anti-human trafficking efforts through the Blue Campaign.

The Blue Campaign is DHS's unified voice for agency efforts to combat human trafficking through public awareness and education. The partnership between DHS and the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force continued throughout 2019. In 2020, we are committed to working in collaboration to bring much needed awareness about human trafficking to citizens of South Carolina and share resources available through the campaign that may benefit wide spread efforts.

In an effort to alert community advocates to the resources available through the Blue Campaign, the State Task Force has chosen to highlight the Human Trafficking Awareness Month initiatives led by the Department of Homeland Security. For more information, please visit their website and view their Facebook page or Twitter account at DHS Blue Campaign. These sites will provide added insight into available resources, online training opportunities, and other initiatives.

We would like to note that January 11th is National Human Trafficking Awareness Day and the Blue Campaign is encouraging those committed to abolishing human trafficking to bring awareness to the cause by wearing blue, taking photos of themselves, friends, and/or co-workers and sharing these images on social media accompanied with #wearblueday.

It is well known within the anti-human trafficking movement that the Internet is a tool frequently used in the commercial sexual exploitation of children. The Internet must be vigilantly monitored, and innovative technology continuously developed, if we are to protect our children from predators. To this effect, law enforcement requires access to resources and training in how to utilize ever evolving technology.

Thorn is a unique nonprofit leveraging technology to combat child sexual exploitation. They are partnered with 70+ international NGOs and 350+ technology volunteers to stop the spread of child sexual abuse material and combat child traffickers who utilize the Internet in their crimes. Their work is guided by three principals: accelerate victim identification, equip platforms, and empower the public.

In 2015, Thorn built a technological tool, Spotlight, to help law enforcement identify child sex trafficking victims and arrest their abusers. Currently, there are over 8,345 officers in 50 states and Canada leveraging the tool in their investigations. Since 2016, the technology identified eight children per day on average, generate a 63% reduction in search time, and identified 9,380 victimized children. Ultimately, Spotlight has positioned law enforcement to tackle more cases of child sexual exploitation within a shorter timeframe.

To actualize a vision where all of South Carolina's law enforcement agencies are equipped to monitor the Internet for child sex trafficking, the State Task Force continued its collaboration with Thorn in 2019. Plans were actualized in expanding access and use of Thorn's Spotlight technology throughout South Carolina by incorporating information in law enforcement trainings. In 2020, the Task Force will continue to bring awareness to the benefits of using Spotlight in investigations by hosting a training lead by Thorn that will center on the newest updates to the technology as well as investigative benefits that have resulted from these changes.

Legal Assistance for Survivors of Trafficking (LAST) is a network of multidisciplinary attorneys across South Carolina who provide high quality pro bono legal counsel and direct representation for survivors of trafficking. Through a case-by-case model, LAST works to secure justice for individual clients and to shape a justice system in our state that works for survivors of trafficking.

LAST was formed in 2017 with a goal of providing every survivor of trafficking in South Carolina access to high quality, trauma-informed legal representation. The model of LAST is to perform intake, screening, and placement of legal needs for survivors with trained pro bono counsel. LAST also equips the private bar to participate through statewide public engagements and Continuing Legal Education trainings, and through technical legal assistance and mentorship once matters are assigned to pro bono attorneys.

Throughout 2019, the network has seen encouraging progress and successful outcomes in municipal, state, and federal courts in South Carolina in matters involving expungement and vacatur, pardon, restitution, custody and family court needs, tax counsel, immigration relief, and victim and witness advocacy in pending criminal prosecutions.

LAST is grateful for the generous partnership and support from the South Carolina Bar, the SC Bar Foundation, the Greenville Bar Association, the Richland County Bar Association, the Federal Bar Association, the U.S. Attorney's Office, the Office of the SC Attorney General, Murphy & Grantland PA, the Human Trafficking Legal Center, SCADVASSA, SC Legal Services, and various direct service providers, private firms and members of the judiciary and Bar across the state.

Human traffickers are increasingly targeting an especially vulnerable population: those with intellectual and physical disabilities. There have been grotesque examples in South Carolina of this crime perpetrated against disabled individuals. Knowledge of these crimes drew the attention of the Task Force leadership and motivated its increased focus in this area. In 2018, the Attorney General's Coordinator of the State Task Force became a member and representative of South Carolina on the National Human Trafficking and Disabilities Work Group (NHTDWG).

The mission of the Work Group is to prevent the trafficking of individuals with disabilities and deaf individuals and to advance the health and well-being of trafficking survivors with disabilities and deaf survivors of trafficking through research, policy analysis, technical assistance, and training.

The State Task Force is hoping to continue to recruit others in South Carolina who have an interest in joining state and national efforts to prevent individuals with disabilities from becoming victims. Additionally, the Task Force hopes to engage those interested in advocating on behalf of this population to better inform the public and shape needed policy changes.

The Office of the South Carolina Attorney General and the South Carolina Trucking Association (SCTA) partnered in January of 2018 along with Truckers Against Trafficking for the first Coalition Build in South Carolina. Law enforcement from 26 agencies joined trucking industry workers in Columbia to learn about human trafficking, learn how to respond to potential incidents, and create a network ready to help combat this crime throughout our state. On the same day, Attorney General Wilson announced that the South Carolina Trucking Association was officially joining the State Task Force to continue highlighting the need to combat human trafficking in the trucking industry.

The South Carolina Trucking Association is a nonprofit trade organization that represents all the various parties constituting South Carolina's vibrant trucking industry. The association was first formed in the 1930s when truck operators found it necessary to do collectively what they could not do individually. Since its inception, the SCTA has been dedicated to the protection, support, and enrichment of its collective membership, while promoting good public policy. The SCTA mission is to advocate, educate and collaborate for successful trucking operations in South Carolina.

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force, under the leadership of the Office of the Attorney General, signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) in 2018 with the South Carolina Hospital Association (SCHA). The MOU officially welcomed the Hospital Association as a member of the State Task Force and recognized their commitment to supporting efforts to educate medical care providers across South Carolina about the complexities of human trafficking. This includes supporting specialized training efforts that center around the official state protocol for medical providers that was completed by the Task Force Healthcare Providers Subcommittee. The trainings will help those in the field identify potential victims and how to best respond to their needs. The Task Force continues to value its partnership with the Hospital Association and the impact our combined efforts will have on victims and survivors in South Carolina.

South Carolina Hospital Association is a private, not-for-profit organization made up of some 100 member hospitals and health systems and about 900 personal members associated with their institutional members. The SCHA was created in 1921 to serve as the collective voice of the state's hospital community. The Association is proud to be a part of the state's hospital industry, adding value to efforts to care for the people of South Carolina. By helping to keep South Carolina's hospitals healthy, they are helping to keep our state healthy.

SCHA's mission is to support its member hospitals in creating a world-class health care delivery system for the people of South Carolina by fostering high quality patient care and serving as effective advocates for the hospital community.

Their vision is that South Carolina's hospitals will be national leaders in improving the quality and safety of patient care, and that SCHA will be a national leader in advocacy. SCHA's credo is We are stronger together than apart.

Nationally, professionals in the anti-human trafficking arena have recognized that vulnerable populations are most often targeted by traffickers. This includes Indigenous people who may be living in rural areas of the country and struggling with financially sustaining themselves and their families. In 2018, the State Task Force partnered with the Indigenous Women's Alliance of South Carolina to support Indigenous citizens of South Carolina through human trafficking awareness efforts. A goal was established to help prevent and protect human trafficking in their tribal communities and implemented in part during 2019.

The Indigenous Women's Alliance of South Carolina is a subcommittee under the South Carolina Indian Affairs Commission. While the Commission focuses on unity among Native Americans, the Alliance focuses on serving Indigenous women in or from South Carolina. The primary goal is to support Indigenous women by bringing attention to issues such as human trafficking, intimate partner violence, and inadequate access to justice. The Alliance promotes skills such as advocacy, healthy living, and leadership.

2019 New Partnerships

Each year, the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force, via the Attorney General's Office, seeks opportunities to develop new partnerships while strengthening existing collaborations. In 2019, the following highlighted partnerships were formalized to increase the Task Force's multi-sector efforts. We look forward to collaborating with each of the associations on efforts to prevent human trafficking through increased awareness and professional training opportunities as well as more formalized reporting protocols.

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force formally began its partnership with the South Carolina Restaurant and Lodging Association in 2019. The goal is to bring awareness to the members of the association regarding both sex and labor trafficking and better position the hospitality industry to respond to incidents within their establishments.

The South Carolina Restaurant and Lodging Association (SCRLA) was formed in 2012 when the South Carolina Hotel & Motel Association and the South Carolina Restaurant Association merged into a single organization. SCRLA is a statewide, non-partisan trade organization. Their mission is to promote, protect, and educate the foodservice and lodging industries of the state and to ensure positive business growth for our members. SCRLA strives to represent the best interest of its members on small business issues, hospitality, and tourism concerns and towards the protection of South Carolina's quality of life.

The SCRLA mission is to provide superior value and effective communication by being the voice of the foodservice and lodging industry in government and public relations, educational programs, offering operational benefits, and creating opportunities for member involvement.

The South Carolina Restaurant and Lodging Association represents over 2,200-member restaurant and lodging companies and industry-related service providers. It is these members that help make the hospitality industry South Carolina's largest employer and one of the state's most politically active and public service-oriented industries.

The South Carolina Beer Wholesalers Association pledged their commitment in November of 2019 to help combat human trafficking in our state by partnering with the State Task Force. The Association plans to distribute posters across the state to help bring awareness of the crime as well as information on how to report an incident or seek help through the National Human Trafficking Hotline. All of the delivery trucks will also have signage posted on them throughout January, Human Trafficking Awareness Month, to further expose the public to the hotline number. Furthermore, the 16 distributors across the state will be trained about human trafficking, how to respond safely, and the best response protocols specific to their industry.

The purpose of the South Carolina Beer Wholesalers Association is to provide leadership which enhances the independent malt beverage wholesale industry, to advocate on behalf of its members before government and the public, to encourage the responsible consumption of beer, and to provide programs and services that will enhance members' efficiency and effectiveness.

South Carolina's beer wholesalers operate in a unique regulatory environment that was established by the 21st Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, as well as the federal and state governments in the wake of the repeal of prohibition. Beer wholesalers occupy the middle tier of a three-tier system established for the distribution and sale of beer. This system was designed to insulate retailers from control by suppliers, encourage moderation in consumption, guarantee full collection of state and federal taxes and permit states to impose rules and regulations on the licensed beverage industry that reflect their own practices and beliefs. This three-tier system has far exceeded its creators' expectations. It is highly efficient and extremely responsive to local concerns.

In 2019, the Coordinator of the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force met with representatives of the United States Committee on Refugees and Immigrants to foster a relationship that would influence the state’s response to foreign national victims in need of support services. The Task Force hopes to create a systemic response to connecting victims and survivors with safe, quality programming. In 2020, the US Committee on Refugees and Immigrants will coordinate with the Attorney General’s Office to meet with direct service providers in South Carolina who would like to expand or develop programs to reach this population. The meeting will detail opportunities for fiscal support as well as training on the requirements to receive ongoing funding and technical support.

For over 100 years, the USCRI has advanced the rights and lives of those who have lost or left their homes. They believe we have a shared responsibility to clear obstacles and uncover opportunities for people everywhere. They achieve these goals by providing support to refugees, immigrants, unaccompanied migrating children, and victims of human trafficking.

USCRI administers the Trafficking Victim Assistance Program (TVAP) for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services’ (HHS) Office on Trafficking in Persons (OTIP) through the following grant awards: 90ZV0136, 90ZV0135, 90ZV0137. TVAP helps foreign national survivors of human trafficking achieve HHS certification and provide trauma-informed, person-centered, comprehensive case management services, facilitating timely access to vital services necessary to stabilize and re-establish their ability to live independently.

Services include emergency assistance, safety planning, basic needs (food, clothing), and access to legal services, housing, health, education, language instruction, etc. USCRI oversees the implementation of TVAP program operations and delivery of services working with a network of over 200 sub-recipients nationwide (including the five U.S. territories of Guam, American Samoa, Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, and U.S. Virgin Islands). USCRI supports TVAP service providers with ongoing training and technical assistance to equip them with the skills, resources, and tools needed to provide the highest quality of services.

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force has engaged with Shared Hope International throughout the years, namely through members attending the annual conference focused on issues related to juvenile sex trafficking. In 2019, the relationship between the Task Force and Shared Hope grew and strengthened as a result of combined efforts.

Innocence Protected Challenge

Annually, Shared Hope International assesses each state's legislation in relation to domestic minor sex trafficking. They again gave South Carolina credit for our ongoing efforts. In their Innocence Protected Challenge, Shared Hope increased South Carolina's state report card grade from a B (82) in 2018 to a B (88) in 2019. The increase in score was due in large part to new criteria used in the analysis of legislation. South Carolina passed no notable human trafficking legislation in 2019. Given the magnitude of the mandates that were passed in 2018, the state was engaged in efforts related to the legislation, specifically H3329.

In 2019, Shared Hope reviewed the state in six key issue areas including criminalization of minor sex trafficking, criminal provisions for demand, criminal provisions for traffickers, criminal provision for facilitators, protective provisions for child victims, and criminal justice tools for investigation and prosecution. For detailed information on our state's grade by each key issue, please view their report at <https://sharedhope.org/what-we-do/bring-justice/reportcards/>.

Research to Action

In 2019, Shared Hope International extended an invitation to the Coordinator of the State Task Force to attend a convening of national experts working in the anti-human trafficking movement. The first Research to Action meeting was held in Phoenix, Arizona in April 2019. Stakeholders spent a day focused on key issues, including obstacles and best practices in providing services to victims and survivors. There were breakout group discussions and the event ended with the reconvening of the larger group prior to an event hosted by the Arizona Anti-Trafficking Network.

Stakeholders were again invited to attend the follow-up Research to Action meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio in October of 2019. The Coordinator of the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force was asked to present on a panel at the event. The panel focused on the diversity of approaches taken by states and identifying potential solutions and steps in meeting the challenges of connecting youth to appropriate services.

In 2020, the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force will continue to work in partnership with Shared Hope International.

Preventing human trafficking through public awareness and education efforts has been a critical component of South Carolina’s anti-human trafficking strategy since the inception of the Task Force. It is imperative that these prevention efforts be tailored to youth given the unique vulnerabilities that they face. Traffickers often begin targeting victims at a young age. The Department of Justice estimates that as many as 100,000 to 300,000 American children are at risk of being trafficked. Today, the average age of child sex trafficking victims reported missing to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children is 15 years old.

Human trafficking poses a clear risk to youth in South Carolina. Our education system, which teaches and oversees South Carolina’s children every day, has an important role to play in increasing youth awareness of the crime. By equipping youth with the knowledge and skills necessary to identify human trafficking, South Carolina’s schools can protect students across the state and prevent the crime before it begins.

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force created the Prevention Education and Outreach Subcommittee after identifying prevention education in schools as a key component of state anti-human trafficking strategy. The purpose of this subcommittee is to coordinate anti-human trafficking messaging, develop awareness presentations, and research and recommend human trafficking prevention education curricula to train South Carolina’s students and administrators to recognize and understand the crime. One of the subcommittee’s goals for 2019 was to create a chart outlining the prevention education curricula it recommends.

The chart below is the fulfillment of this goal. After the Task Force received curricula recommendations from Cuspis, the organization chairing the Prevention Education and Outreach Subcommittee, the curricula were further vetted and organized into this chart. The curricula we have chosen vary in their target audience, language accessibility, and format. We encourage educators and administrators across South Carolina to review the recommended curricula and choose one to implement in their school or after-school programs. By adopting and implementing one of the following human trafficking prevention education curricula, educators can equip their students with the awareness and skills needed to protect themselves and their peers from potential human trafficking incidents.

The Office of the South Carolina Attorney General and Cuspis partnered in reviewing prevention education curricula that are presented in more detail below. The summaries are based on online, publicly available information provided by each organization.

LIGHTS by UNITAS

The mission of UNITAS is to prevent human trafficking and exploitation through education and awareness while providing opportunities for survivors to thrive. UNITAS has offices in both Serbia and the United States to develop innovative programs in both regions.

LIGHTS is a prevention education curriculum designed to empower young people with the knowledge and skills necessary to protect themselves from human trafficking and other forms of exploitation. The LIGHTS curriculum consists of 10 specialized 45-minute sessions tailored toward middle and high school students. The first three required sessions build an understanding of sex trafficking, labor trafficking, and sextortion. The following seven sessions may be chosen by schools and educators based on students’ needs. LIGHTS is based on the lived experiences of teenage survivors and has been piloted across the U.S. with children from every socioeconomic background. LIGHTS has been accepted for use in Washington, D.C. public schools where it is currently being taught.

PROTECT

In response to growing reports of human trafficking, the California Office of the Attorney General and California Department of Education partnered with three anti-human trafficking organizations—3Strands Global Foundation, Love Never Fails, and Frederick Douglass Family Initiatives—to develop and launch the education program PROTECT. PROTECT’s mission is to reduce the vulnerability of children by identifying and preventing human trafficking by using a standardized, trauma-informed curriculum and systematic delivery methodology. The PROTECT Program uses a multi-tiered approach to combat human trafficking by providing training and reporting protocols to school staff so they can implement trauma-informed prevention education to students and be prepared for disclosed abuse. Since its launch, PROTECT has been implemented in over 35 California counties and has grown to other states, reaching over 50,000 adults and children.

The PROTECT Program includes training modules on human trafficking as well as four trauma-informed human trafficking lesson plans. School staff can access these plans online to use with their students. The program has specific lessons tailored to elementary, middle, and high school classrooms. Lesson plans come with a variety of resources including teacher training videos, Google Slides, and classroom activities. With these resources, the PROTECT curriculum aims to provide a comprehensive understanding of the dangers, signs and historical roots of human trafficking while equipping students with the ability to identify victims and respond appropriately.

Love 146: Not a #Number

Love146 is an international human rights organization working to end child trafficking and exploitation through survivor care and prevention. Love146 engages in advocacy and mobilization efforts, offers trainings for law enforcement, social workers, and teachers, contributes research, and provides survivor care globally. Through these efforts, Love146 aims to abolish child trafficking and exploitation.

Love146’s curriculum, Not a #Number, is an interactive, five-module prevention curriculum designed to teach youth ages 12-18 how to protect themselves from human trafficking. The curriculum utilizes a holistic approach focusing on factors such as respect, empathy, and individual strengths. Not a #Number is designed to be inclusive and relevant to a variety of populations; it has been implemented in schools, child welfare and juvenile justice agencies, and other community settings. The curriculum is also inclusive of youth that identify as LGBTQ and is applicable across gender, ethnic, and socioeconomic backgrounds.

A21 Campaign: Bodies Are Not Commodities

The A21 Campaign is a global nonprofit organization that aims to eradicate slavery and help every person experience freedom. A21’s three-tiered strategy consists of reducing vulnerability, identifying victims, and empowering survivors. To carry out its strategy, A21 engages in awareness raising events and education programs. A21 also works with law enforcement to help identify victims and assist in the prosecution of traffickers while working with survivors to provide individualized care and recovery services.

As part of its education efforts, A21 developed a curriculum, Bodies Are Not Commodities. Created for high school students, the curriculum consists of five interactive sessions designed to help students understand the crime and provide appropriate ways for them to be part of the solution. The curriculum is built to align with Common Core standards and it comes with pre and post assessments, videos, and guiding activities and questions.

My Life My Choice

My Life My Choice is a survivor-led nonprofit organization fighting to end the sexual exploitation of girls and help them reclaim their lives. My Life My Choice works in the areas of survivor empowerment, prevention and awareness, training, and advocacy to fight for change and social justice.

In 2002, My Life My Choice developed the first comprehensive exploitation prevention curriculum in the nation. The ten-session curriculum equips disproportionately vulnerable girls with the tools and information necessary to protect themselves from exploitation. The curriculum is specific to girls ages 12-18 and was developed, written, and reviewed by survivors of exploitation. My Life My Choice's curriculum was evaluated by the National Institute of Justice and evidence was found that participation is associated with decreased risk of commercial sexual exploitation of children. According to the study, an experience of commercial sexual exploitation amongst participants decreased by 50% immediately after the program was completed.

VIII. Human Trafficking Legislation Updates

Throughout 2019, much energy was channeled into responding to legislative mandates that were passed in the spring of 2018. The biggest focus area was the expectations set forth in H3329. The primary focus for the State Task Force was the development of minimum standards for certification as well as assisting in meeting the immediate needs of minor victims of human trafficking. (For more information on the specifics of the bill, please visit www.scstatehouse.gov)

Victim Service Provider Certification for Human Trafficking Professionals

State Task Force leadership identified resources that were available during an assessment of what was needed to develop and implement a state level certification process for direct service providers. The most immediate and valuable resource was an already established system to certify direct service providers at the state level. The Victim Service Provider (VSP) certification, administered by the Department of Crime Victim Services Training, Provider Certification, and Statistical Analysis at the Office of the South Carolina Attorney General, offered an opportunity to ensure that all direct service providers working with human trafficking victims and survivors would have a similar foundation built on core topics and best practices in the field. In January 2019, the first training was piloted for Victim Service Provider Certification (VSP-HT) for Human Trafficking Professionals. Approximately 40 professionals attended the training held at the Criminal Justice Academy in Columbia.

Additional VSP-HT trainings will be offered throughout 2020 in the Upstate, Low Country, and Pee Dee regions. For more information, please contact Megan Rigabar, Human Trafficking Program Assistant at the Office of the South Carolina Attorney General, meganrigabar@scag.gov.

Minimum Standards

The development of minimum standards is a critical portion of meeting the mandate under H3329 for a state level certification process to be instituted through the State Task Force. There were efforts to gather input from State Task Force subcommittees and other partners throughout 2019. The State Task Force, under the leadership of the Attorney General's Office, will release the minimum standards in early 2020 and post them to the Task Force website.

Certification Process

Once the minimum standards are released, the Attorney General's Office will begin the process of identifying direct service providers that would like to be recognized by the State of South Carolina as recommended providers supporting the unique needs of human trafficking victims and survivors. The list of certified providers will be distributed to the courts, law enforcement, the child welfare system, healthcare providers, and others who often seek immediate and long-term support services for this population. The list will also be a living document on the State Task Force website at humantrafficking.scag.gov.

IX. National Human Trafficking Hotline Data

The South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force and the National Human Trafficking Hotline maintain an ongoing partnership. The Task Force promotes the use of the National Hotline, assists in effectively relaying tips to law enforcement in South Carolina, and vets direct service providers to try to ensure that victims are not revictimized and receive much needed quality services. The National Hotline provides the Task Force with data that helps shape our statewide response to the crime and the development of support services for victims and survivors.

Given the complexities of maintaining and ensuring clean data, the National Human Trafficking Hotline provided 2018 statistics pertaining to human trafficking in South Carolina. The statistics provided do not represent a comprehensive report of trafficking cases in South Carolina throughout that period. They represent only signals and cases made to the National Human Trafficking Hotline during the time period. The statistics are accurate at the time of this report. However, situations of trafficking may be ongoing or new information may be revealed to the National Hotline at a later date. Consequently, statistics may be subject to change as new information emerges.

The charts below represent human trafficking cases with at least one location recorded in South Carolina. The numbers are different than the numbers on the National Hotline website. This is a result of the numbers below representing cases that were communicated to the National Human Trafficking Hotline by all types of signals: calls, texts, web chats, web forms, and emails. Until 2017, texts and web chats were not included in the numbers on the website. These two types of signals will be included in forthcoming years which will simplify reporting in the future.

X. State Task Force Subcommittees

Throughout much of 2019, the South Carolina Human Trafficking Task Force was comprised of eleven (11) subcommittees at the state level. There were changes made during the year to right track given various external factors and a new strategic response to the crime. Additionally, the State Task Force launched the Interfaith Subcommittee to better support those in the faith community in their efforts to help combat human trafficking and provide supports to victims and survivors. Below, there are details about each subcommittee including goals, challenges, and accomplishments.

Leadership

The Leadership Committee positions the State Task Force subcommittee and regional task force leaders to unite in an effort to prioritize initiatives, support legislation, and discuss other relevant topics that impact the larger anti-human trafficking movement in South Carolina.

2019 Accomplishment: Discussions were had with members of the subcommittee to review topics of concern for leadership, share resources, and establish priorities for the remainder of the year.

2019 Challenges: Although the composition of the Leadership Subcommittee is ideal in terms of representing different regions of the state and the multiple sectors invested in anti-human trafficking efforts, it is composed of individuals already heavily invested in efforts to combat the crime and support victims and survivors. It has been difficult to find dates that jive well with the efforts underway throughout the state as well as each individual's professional calendar. Therefore, there have been many individual conversations via the State Task Force Coordinator/Chair of the Leadership Subcommittee.

2020 Goals: The Leadership Subcommittee will meet twice to coordinate efforts moving forward. Additionally, the leadership group will assist in the development of State Task Force policies and procedures that continue to formalize collaborations, quality oversight, and other pressing issues. The Leadership Subcommittee will also be critical to supporting professional training opportunities, developing the statewide speakers' bureau, and implementing the legislatively mandated certification process for direct service providers.

Survivor Advisory

Mission of the Sub-Committee: The Survivor Advisory Committee is comprised of Survivor Leaders in South Carolina who bring their expertise and experience to advise and provide recommendations to the Statewide Human Trafficking Task Force. The subcommittee was developed to better position survivors to have a voice in the development of protocols and initiatives geared toward supporting victims and survivors throughout South Carolina.

Members: There were five members and three organizations represented on the subcommittee.

2019 Update:

- Advised on Direct Service minimum standards
- Advised on Guiding Principles
- Established guidelines, confidentiality, referral form and application to be considered a member of subcommittee

2019 Challenges:

Some of the challenges the subcommittee has faced includes establishing a process to verify survivorship to be a subcommittee member, identifying survivor leaders working in the movement in the state that want to join the subcommittee, locating a neutral location that is relatively easy and affordable for survivors to meet, and getting already established subcommittees to utilize our consultation on new efforts.

2019 Goals:

- Establish a process for Task Force members to reach out to us for individual and collective consultations and speaking engagements
- Quarterly meetings
- Establish roles and clear objectives for our subcommittee
- Identify more potential members
- Focus on equipping survivors that wish to work in the movement on professional development skills
- Send our recommendations regarding the onboard process for our subcommittee to Coordinator of the State Task Force for approval, and implement this process.

The subcommittee would love to see a push in communication of the importance of having a survivor to advise on efforts and services, especially for those directly serving victims of trafficking. Our long term goals would be to have a survivor represented on every subcommittee.

Data Management & Research

Mission: To understand human trafficking victimization and service needs through data and research and to inform prevention, intervention, and policy making on human trafficking with data and research. (This statement is aligned with the purpose of the federal Data Collection Project of the Office on Trafficking in Persons)

Membership: The Children’s Law Center at the University of South Carolina School of Law provides tremendous support to the Sub-committee’s accomplishments in 2019. Special thanks go to the amazing team members Ms. Margaret Bodman and Ms. Mandy Bowden at the Center who work diligently on a child sex trafficking grant project with the Chair to provide law enforcement officers with knowledge and tools in identifying and responding to child victims and high risk children of sex trafficking. Margaret Bodman, JD, currently serves as the Prosecution and Law Enforcement Senior Resource Attorney for the Children’s Law Center. Mandy Bowden, MCJ, is the Children’s Justice Act Coordinator for the Children’s Law Center. She coordinates the South Carolina Children’s Justice Act Task Force which is comprised of over 30 multidisciplinary child abuse professionals across the state. The subcommittee is also comprised of law enforcement from across the state who provide much needed insight and feedback central to the project’s success.

2019 Goals:

Led by the Chair of the subcommittee/the Research Scientist of the Children’s Law Center at the University of South Carolina School of Law (the Center), the Center was awarded a Federal Formula Grant by the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, U.S. Department of Justice through the South Carolina Department of Public Safety, Office of High Safety and Justice Program. The purpose of the grant project is to provide law enforcement officers with knowledge and tools to identify and respond to child victims and high risk children of sex trafficking.

Goal 1: The prevalence of child sex trafficking will be quantified locally to increase law enforcement officers’ awareness of child sex trafficking.

Goal 2: A statewide cross-agency longitudinal dataset on high risk children of sex trafficking will be built for law enforcement to obtain data.

Goal 3: A screening tool will be developed for law enforcement officers. More child victims and high risk children of sex trafficking will be identified in a more timely fashion with the use of the tool.

Goal 4: To convene a workgroup to develop recommended practices of responding to child victims and high risk children of sex trafficking.

Goal 5: To develop a training curriculum for law enforcement officers and promote the use of the curriculum in training for law enforcement around the state.

2019 Accomplishments:

In the 10/1/2018 – 9/30/2019 grant year, the major accomplishments in comparison to goals proposed in the grant project included:

Goal 1 Accomplishments: This goal was accomplished through working with local law enforcement agencies to collect and analyze their runaway and incorrigible incident reports. Red flags, risk factors and potential child sex trafficking cases were identified from the incident reports. Findings were compiled in data reports to share with the local agencies to support their efforts to combat child sex trafficking.

Goal 2 Accomplishments: This goal was accomplished through linking data across agencies in South Carolina through the South Carolina Revenue and Fiscal Affairs Office (RFA). The “high risk children” of sex trafficking were defined in the data applications as subjects who were born in the years of 1996, 1997, and 1998 with any charges of truancy, runaway, incorrigible, and “prostitutions” with the Department of Juvenile Justice and an indicated finding of abuse or neglect with the Child Protective Services in the S.C. Department of Social Services. The RFA then linked the cohort data from the S.C. Department of Juvenile Justice and S.C. Department of Services to the selected variables from the S.C. Department of Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse Services, the S.C. Law Enforcement Division, the S.C. Department of Corrections, and the S.C. Department of Health and Environmental Control. All agencies approved the Center’s data applications. The Center is currently analyzing the linked dataset.

Goal 3 Accomplishments: After an extensive literature review on existing screening tools on local and national levels, the Center developed two tools for law enforcement officers with guidance from the Law Enforcement Practices and Protocol Child Sex Trafficking Workgroup convened by the grant project. The first tool was the Child Sex Trafficking Flagging Tool for Law Enforcement that was designed in pocket card format for patrol officers to use. The second tool was the Child Sex Trafficking Identification Tool for Law Enforcement that was designed for investigators to use. To further provide evidence to validate the tool, the Center will pilot the tools and collect feedback from the piloting law enforcement agencies before finalizing them in year two of the grant.

Goal 4 accomplishments: To develop recommended practices, the Center established the Law Enforcement Practices and Protocol Child Sex Trafficking Workgroup (the Workgroup). Currently, members of the law enforcement Workgroup include law enforcement representatives from city, county, state and federal levels. It is worth mentioning that many of the Workgroup members have rich experiences in handling child sex trafficking cases in South Carolina. It is also encouraging to have law enforcement representatives from counties where the most human trafficking cases were reported in recent years. Based on the input from the Workgroup members, the Center compiled the recommended practices on identifying child victims and high risk children of sex trafficking. The Workgroup is still working on developing the recommended practices on investigating and prosecuting child sex trafficking cases and plans to have the recommended practices complete in year two of the grant.

Goal 5 accomplishments: The Center collected and reviewed existing training curricula from other states on child sex trafficking, met with stakeholders to discuss the need for a statewide standardized curriculum, and identified components, length, potential trainers and delivery methods of the training. With the input, the Center drafted a curriculum outline and gathered feedback in Workgroup meetings on different components of the outline. The Workgroup members provided extremely helpful feedback and recommended resources from local and national levels to be incorporated in the curriculum. The Center is currently working with the Workgroup to identify experienced law enforcement trainers from our state to provide the training. This is important as most of the child sex trafficking trainings in South Carolina were given by trainers from the federal level or other states. This training is designed to incorporate local data collected in the aforementioned goals 1 and 2 of the grant project, flagging and identification tools developed for local law enforcement officers in goal 3 as well as recommended practices compiled in goal 4. The Center plans to finalize the curriculum and implement the training in year two of the grant.

2019 Challenges: The lack of resources and time to work on the goal to establish a statewide cross-agency comprehensive human trafficking data collection system. However, with the recent hiring of Megan Rigabar, the Human Trafficking Program Assistant at South Carolina Office of the Attorney General, I am hopeful that progress would be made in accomplishing the goal in 2020.

2020 Goals:

- 1) To continue to work towards establishing a statewide cross-agency comprehensive human trafficking data collection system;
- 2) To continue the grant project on identifying and responding to child victims and high risk children of sex trafficking in South Carolina and apply for the year-three grant to support the project.

Membership: There are approximately 15 members and eight organizations represented on the sub-committee.

2019 Goals: The Direct Service Providers (Minor Focus) had our first meeting on August 5th. 2020 Goals: Our primary goals for 2020 will be to identify gaps in our perspective agencies and develop action steps with solutions. We will also be assisting in the state level certification process for direct service providers. The subcommittee could benefit from identifying other key players who could join to help with the vision of creating more resources, an internal map and flow chart as to how our minor victims should flow through the system so that we can all have the same understanding and continuity in how to service minor victims of human trafficking.

Interfaith Subcommittee

South Carolina is home to a robust, diverse community of faith-based organizations. Many in the faith community have been active in South Carolina's ongoing efforts to combat human trafficking. As the involvement of faith groups in the anti-human trafficking movement continues to grow, the State Task Force identified a need to improve statewide collaboration among those in this community. In 2020, the Interfaith Subcommittee will officially launch to help coordinate the efforts of South Carolina's faith-based involvement within the larger statewide anti-human trafficking movement.

The Interfaith Subcommittee will be composed of point people in each of the four state regions to be liaisons between the State Task Force and the interfaith groups of their respective regions. Along with the representatives from each of the regions, there will be representation on the subcommittee from direct service providers to ensure victim-centered, trauma-informed approaches are central to the development of initiatives. Members of the subcommittee will identify faith leaders throughout the state who wish to elevate their involvement and participate in a thorough training process. The subcommittee will also collaborate with regional task forces to identify representatives of the faith community within their corresponding communities.

The development of this infrastructure will improve the State Task Force's ability to forge streamlined partnerships with faith organizations across the state to more effectively coordinate anti-human trafficking trainings and awareness efforts with members of the faith community. The Interfaith Subcommittee will also be equipped to assist in developing human trafficking response protocols and trauma-informed practices within their houses of worship. By building out a network of committed faith-based organizations, the State Task Force will assist in unifying interfaith anti-human trafficking efforts statewide. As a result, the State Task Force hopes to ultimately improve coordination of anti-human trafficking messaging, training, and support services across South Carolina.

2019 Accomplishments:

- Since establishing a Subcommittee Chairperson in late 2018, the Subcommittee has focused on growing its network throughout 2019.

2019 Challenges:

A Judge and Advocates Provide Training For Youth Human Trafficking Project in Charleston and Greenville, SC

In 2019, SC Family Court Judge Michèle Patrão Forsythe, Amanda Adler, Esquire, and Nelson Mullins Pro Bono Administrator Norah Rogers, worked together to create a new pilot project called the Youth Human Trafficking Project. The new project is designed to help judges identify youths with criminal charges in family court that may be victims of labor and/or sex trafficking or at-risk of becoming victims. The youths will be provided a trained guardian ad litem (GAL) to ensure their best interests and voices are heard in their court proceedings. The appointed GALs will conduct investigations and file formal reports with the court stating findings and advocating for established local services.

Service provider advocates, the S.C. Attorney General's Office, DJJ, CASA, law enforcement and others trained a total of sixty-six (66) volunteer lawyers at CLE training presentations in Greenville (March 29, 2019) and Charleston (May 5, 2019).

2019 Challenges:

1. Recruiting key members. A principal challenge was recruiting members who are broadly representative of the legal community and response to human trafficking in South Carolina.
2. Engaging key entities in SC. One challenge that was more of a function of time investment rather than pushback was engaging key entities in SC, including state Municipal Courts, state Circuit Courts, state Public Defenders, Court Leadership, Court Administration, Charleston School of Law, GALs, key law enforcement agencies, and lawmakers, where appropriate. Engagement with these stakeholders represents significant opportunities for growth for the subcommittee.

2020 Goals:

The chair position remains in transition and the State Task Force is currently recruiting a new person to lead the efforts in 2020.

XI. Regional Human Trafficking Task Forces

To ensure that regions across South Carolina are equipped with the resources and infrastructure necessary to effectively combat human trafficking, the State Task Force encourages the development of regional task forces. Once created, the regional task forces serve to coordinate anti-human trafficking efforts within their jurisdiction while collaborating with the State Task Force to promote information sharing and cooperation with statewide initiatives.

Regional Human Trafficking Task Force Standards

In order to ensure that South Carolina’s anti-human trafficking efforts are consistent statewide, the State Task Force has created the following minimum standards for regional task forces to meet in order to be recognized by the state. The Regional Task Force standards are divided into three categories: mission, operations, and management.

Task Force Mission:

- Task force members must have a clear and accurate understanding of human trafficking in all forms.
- Regional task forces will develop a stated vision, mission, and annual goals.
- Regional task force members will promote trauma-informed, culturally competent, and non-discriminatory practices in all areas, especially in victim services. Members of each task force must adhere to these practices.

- Regional task forces will revisit goals annually with their members to update and clarify the direction of efforts in their communities.

Task Force Operations:

- Regional task forces will recognize the importance of collaboration with the State Task Force, other regional task forces, multi-sector agencies, and organizations.
- Efforts will be made to foster professional, collaborative relationships amongst members of the regional task force as well as amongst representatives of State Task Force sub-committees.
- In partnership with the Coordinator of the State Task Force, the regional task forces will develop a comprehensive emergency response protocol.
- Regional task forces will ensure its members provide non-discriminatory services that support all victims regardless of citizenship, nationality, language, gender, sexual orientation, type of trafficking, or age.
- Regional task forces will build diverse partnerships with organizations that assist vulnerable populations.

Task Force Management:

- Regional Task Forces will create and formalize bylaws to internally regulate meetings/initiatives and to outline processes for conflict resolution, leadership changes, and elections.
- Regional Task Forces will elect two co-chairs through an election administered online to allow for the participation of all task force members.
- Regional Task Forces will reserve one co-chair position for a member of law enforcement.
- Regional Task Forces will create mechanisms to collaborate and align with judicial circuits.
- Regional Task Forces will hold a minimum of one meeting quarterly.

Throughout 2020, the State Task Force will work with established task forces, as well as those preparing to launch new coalitions, to ensure standards are clearly set and adhered to throughout the year.

XII. Member Accomplishments

The Office of the South Carolina Attorney General continues to lead the State Task Force efforts while also diligently prosecuting cases and helping to bring awareness to the complexities of human trafficking in our state. In fact, the office presented over 110 presentations in 2019 reaching nearly 10,000 individuals throughout the state. However, it remains vital to acknowledge the collective efforts and numerous accomplishments of our local, state, and federal Task Force partners. No one agency alone can provide the solution to the problem in South Carolina.

Below, please find information submitted by each organization. It is not a comprehensive list of all the efforts in 2019, but a good representation of the multi-sector approach underway in South Carolina.

2020 Plans for Expansion of Services: We would like to open another home in the Tri-County area due to the excellent services this area has to offer. We are currently looking for three foster families in our area to receive proper training for this population. We would assign a caseworker to each family for support and case management to ensure the child receives proper services. We would also like to start an assessment center in our area. Our current home is not designed for emergency care. Through the assessment center all identified trafficking victims could be brought to the center and holistically assessed for proper placement, either in a Doors to Freedom home or with a trained foster family.

What does your agency do to support anti-human trafficking efforts in South Carolina?

We are developing a campaign to empower youth ages 11-18 to know how to recognize and resist recruitment into domestic minor sex trafficking (DMST) for themselves and their peers. This prevention program will bring innovative, interactive presentations and workshops to Upstate faith communities and schools beginning in early 2020 for audiences made up of youth, their parents, and other adult leaders. Presentations will include an original interactive drama and employ improvisational storytelling to illustrate indicators of vulnerability to being trafficked and provide community resources for follow-up action that can be taken by youths and adults.

2019 Accomplishments: First conceived in response to the August 2019 Bon Secours presentation on Human Trafficking in Greenville, this campaign has so far succeeded in accumulating valuable input from representatives of five Upstate service provider agencies as well as Greenville Public Schools and the Greenville County Sheriff’s Department. We are working closely with Dr. Dale Savidge, a Registered Drama Therapist and director of Greenville’s Applied Theatre Center, to develop an original interactive drama for this campaign based on input from survivors of DMST, school counselors, and others. We have also established a working relationship with Shared Hope International for obtaining training and resources to be used in our presentations and workshops.

Mission Statement: Our primary role is to prosecute all cases in General Sessions Court, certain misdemeanors in Magistrate's Court, and all criminal cases in Family Court.

Area Served (Statewide or Counties): Allendale, Beaufort, Colleton, Hampton and Jasper counties

Organizational Overview: The 14th Circuit Solicitor's Office is the chief prosecuting agency for Allendale, Beaufort, Colleton, Hampton and Jasper counties. Each year, we prosecute approximately 5,000 cases. Additionally, our office operates a number of prevention programs including pre-trial intervention, worthless checks, alcohol education, traffic education, treatment-based courts and juvenile arbitration. The office is led by the Solicitor, who is elected every four years. Solicitor Duffie Stone was appointed by the Governor in 2006. He was re-elected in 2008, 2012 and 2016.

What does your agency do to support anti-human trafficking efforts in South Carolina?

Our office regularly attends quarterly State Task Force meetings and collaborates with area service providers, including Hopeful Horizons and the Child Abuse Prevention Association – Beaufort and area hospitals. We recently hired a Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE) trained to provide forensic examinations to both children and adults.

2019 Accomplishments: On July 7, 2019, Solicitor Duffie Stone appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee on ways to make the internet safer for children. South Carolina Sen. Lindsey Graham is the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. He testified, “We live in a world in which criminals can interact with our children without ever physically stepping inside our home. We must think about this threat differently than we have in the past. The safety of our children depends on it and we all have a role to play.”

On Oct. 10, 2019, our office opened the state’s first Justice Institute and 14th Circuit Victims Services Center. The center brings together a multi-disciplinary team of professionals and organizations to provide services of domestic violence, sexual assault and other crimes against vulnerable populations, to include trafficking victims. The facility includes an exam room and forensic interview room. A new camera system in a children’s interview room can be viewed via closed circuit by other professionals in an adjacent room. This reduces the number of times children have to recount their stories, a process that can re-traumatize some victims. The room is also available to law enforcement officers who want to interview child witnesses in an environment less intimidating than a police station.

2020 Goals: Solicitor Duffie Stone is slated to provide remarks at the Lowcountry Human Trafficking Task Force’s 2020 Community Address on Jan. 22, 2020 at the Bluffton Library in Bluffton, SC. He will discuss internet crimes.

- Continue to educate and promote the 14th Circuit Victims Services Center to our circuit’s law enforcement agencies as a valuable resource and tool.
- Provide anti-human trafficking training to area law enforcement.
- Continue to collaborate and support local, state and federal investigators with ongoing sex trafficking investigations.

Task Force Involvement: Sheila Roemeling, one of the coordinators of the Lowcountry Human Trafficking Task Force, typically attends the state-level meetings, however someone from our office might be able to attend future meetings, particularly since our 14th Circuit Victims Services is open and Heather Dollar, RN, is providing direct care.

XIII. 2020 Recommendations

Determining the Magnitude of Human Trafficking in South Carolina

Finding: There is not abundant or comprehensive data about human trafficking as it is happening in South Carolina.

Recommendation

In 2019, the Data Management and Research Subcommittee will continue efforts on multiple projects that will benefit efforts underway in our state. There will be an increased effort in 2020 to launch the first human trafficking data collection system in South Carolina. The data collection system will align with the DHHS Office on Trafficking in Persons data project and be interoperable to best position State Task Force members to both contribute toward and receive statistics. The information will be shared with local, state, and federal stakeholders. The collection of such data will help shape law enforcement training opportunities and the development of support services in our state.

Protecting, Supporting, and Serving Victims of Human Trafficking

- Finding One: First responders, medical professionals, labor agencies, and victim advocacy groups must be able to recognize the signs of human trafficking.

Recommendation

Training is a critical element in elevating the response to human trafficking in South Carolina. The State Task Force will continue efforts to provide comprehensive training to first responders, medical professional, labor agencies, and victim advocates through local, state, and national partnerships. It is important that ongoing efforts to inform the community continue to ensure that multi-sector professionals are able to identify and safely respond to human trafficking in their communities. This will help ensure that law enforcement is notified, victims' needs are more rapidly addressed, and traffickers are prosecuted in South Carolina courts.

- Finding Two: There is a lack of sufficient funding for, access to, and availability of resources for groups that provide services to victims of human trafficking.

Recommendation

Throughout 2020, the State Task Force will actively seek opportunities for members to receive much needed funding to support their efforts in implementing prevention education, offering professional training opportunities, and developing new support services across the state.

- Finding Three: South Carolina does not have adequate shelter space to meet the needs of human trafficking victims.

Recommendation

The lack of safe shelter space for human trafficking continues to be an issue in South Carolina and across the nation. The State Task Force will continue efforts to support the development of shelter spaces that meet the unique needs of human trafficking victims and survivors. Furthermore, the Task Force will work diligently to ensure that these programs provide victim-centered, trauma-informed services that align with best and emerging practices in the field. The latter will be achieved through a formal vetting and certification process of direct service providers. A resource guide of those providing quality services will then be shared with judges, law enforcement, other providers, and partners at the regional and national level.

- Finding Four: There is a lack of understanding and awareness of the various immigration benefits for non-citizen victims of human trafficking that are essential to victim safety and prosecution.

Recommendation

There is an ongoing need to continue to educate direct service providers regarding immigration benefits for non-citizen victims of human trafficking. In early 2020, the State Task Force will develop a brochure (offered in multiple languages) that details information to best position providers to support this population. The brochure will be posted on the Task Force website so that partners may reference and/or download the resource as needed.

- Finding Five: Civil relief options for a trafficked victim are not well known or communicated.

Recommendation

The Legal Innovations Sub-Committee will continue its partnerships with stakeholders invested in this matter. Efforts will be made to include relevant information in trainings, during special events, and through other effective avenues.

- Finding Six: Delivery of and access to victim services need to be better coordinated.

Recommendation

After much work in 2019, this is an area that will continue to be further developed in 2020. More MOU's will be drafted and specialized programs vetted to ensure the Task Force endorses support services that are grounded in safe, quality practices. The Task Force will develop a list of service providers that meet specific criteria and post on the website for reference by stakeholders in South Carolina, the Southeast and across the nation. This information will also be shared directly with law enforcement and members of the bar.

Investigating and Prosecuting Human Traffickers

- Finding One: The lack of resources available to law enforcement, prosecutors, and judges frustrate opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.
- Finding Two: The lack of information-sharing among law enforcement officers and prosecuting offices hinders opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.
- Finding Three: The lack of trained law enforcement officers, prosecutors, and judges prevents opportunities to arrest, prosecute, and sentence human traffickers.

Recommendation (Finding One, Two and Three)

Resources will continue to be identified and disseminated to better support the efforts of law enforcement, prosecutors, and judges. Additionally, the law enforcement network will continue to be strengthened to position local, state, and federal partners to share information, best respond to case tips, and seek support on investigations as needed. This network will largely be developed during Law Enforcement Subcommittee meetings and training opportunities highlighting human trafficking investigative strategies.

Preventing Human Trafficking in South Carolina

- Finding One: There is inadequate enforcement of existing rules and regulations in South Carolina.

Recommendation

In 2020, efforts will continue to better educate law enforcement and prosecutors about the specifics of human trafficking legislation in South Carolina. Partners across the state will be better positioned to enforce rules and regulations if ongoing efforts continue in this area.

- Finding Two: Lack of awareness about human trafficking and ingrained societal perceptions aggravate the problem, resulting in lost opportunities to help victims and hold perpetrators accountable.

Recommendation

The State Task Force will continue public awareness initiatives throughout the state. A Speakers Bureau, composed of a trained cohort of speakers, will help ensure that ingrained societal perceptions are challenged and the public remains better informed on the complexities of human trafficking.

Other Areas for Consideration and Study

- Foreign national victims: Consider how current immigration laws can affect victims of severe human trafficking.
- Rapid Response Teams: Consider creating teams throughout the state via new partnerships, the development of regional multiagency groups, and concise points of contact to be used by response teams.
- Child Victims: Analyze how South Carolina juvenile law affects juvenile victims of human trafficking, particularly those victims who might be arrested for a crime.
- Internet and Technology: Develop strategies to more efficiently investigate tips received from online sites, draft protocol for handling tips including possible areas of overlap between human trafficking and internet crimes against children. Also examine different methods, specifically those related to technology and the Internet, used in the perpetration of human trafficking crimes in order to formulate better responses, develop prevention strategies, and build stronger cases for prosecution

Recommendations

In 2020, the State Task Force will continue its efforts to support providers working with foreign national victims, fully launch its Strategic Response Model, and continue to highlight the need for Internet related education and the use of technology in investigating human trafficking cases. We will also continue efforts to protect minor victims through partnerships with child welfare agencies and advocates, ensure both children and adolescents receive quality services that meet their unique needs, and encourage prosecution of criminals who target children as victims of sex and/or labor trafficking.
